

Let Us Support Our Fighting Men

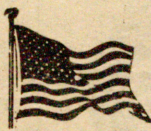

By AL BUCHHOLZ

I came uneasy to my country. My birth was shrouded by the clouds of war. I was far too young to have had a hand in it — but I was, after all, born in one of the Axis nations. After living a year under Russian occupation, I had a chance of meeting the fighting men of America. And I knew that instead of bringing revenge they brought gum. And they talked about home. They talked eternally about home. They were strange men on a strange ground and while we, as children, looked up to them, they still scared us a little. But as the years passed, and the talk became deeds, the fear was replaced by respect. America put away bitterness, not to be forgotten, but so it wouldn't interfere with the main job of helping people. Because of my experiences, the opportunity of living in the United States gives the words, "Peace on Earth Toward All Men of Good Will," a deeper meaning for me. Now, as another Christmas approaches, it's my strange fighting men on another strange ground. Now, as then, it's hard to be away from home at Christmas. Now, as then, there's a reason it has to be done. Occupation by Chairman Mao is no different from occupation by the Russians. Czechoslovakia wants freedom as much as America but doesn't have the means to pursue and retain it. Whereas freedom is the right, at birth, of all men, we find it our duty to answer the call and come to the assistance of freedom seeking men. We struggle for this principle in the session halls of the United Nations. We struggle for this principle in the emerging nations.

We struggle for this principle in our own country. And we struggle hardest for this principle in the unhappy swamps of Vietnam. So it can't be the happy Christmas it should be. Our young men are standing in another part of the world. Their seats at the dinner table are empty. Their graduation suits hang empty in our closets. Their cars sit empty in the sheds. But there's no emptiness in our hearts. We haven't asked that he stand for liberty, only to take away our support in his struggle. We haven't joined with his enemy to defeat his aim. And we won't let him down by misinforming him about our feelings. This Christmas it's time for a moratorium. A moratorium against doubt. A moratorium against failure to speak up. A moratorium to reassure our brothers and sons that we know why they can't be with us and that we're sharing the pain of their absence. It didn't make headlines because it was done thoughtfully and quietly, but just a few weeks ago, in thousands of smaller communities across the nation, Americans stood in chill winds in parks and on court house lawns. They heard amateur speakers give voice on Veteran's Day to the real feelings in the land. Feelings which tend to be smothered by shouting antics in Chicago court rooms. The deeper feelings which must be conveyed to the Americans who stand for us in the defense of freedom. May I call on you in asking our Commander in Chief, U.S. Forces, Republic of Vietnam to pass on your feelings of support to our fighting men. Send a card to: General Creighton W. Abrams, Headquarters, U.S. Forces, Republic of Vietnam, APO 96601.

2 Girls Hit By Car; 1 Dead

MOKENA -- A Mokena girl, Ruth Ann Pels, 16, was instantly killed and her companion, Barbara Marie Beebe, also 16, critically injured when struck by a passenger car as they walked along Hamilton Rd. last Tuesday evening. The two girls, both juniors at Providence high school, were walking east along Hamilton about 5:15 o'clock, according to the report of Police Chief Wayne Reiter. They were walking on the roadway, about three feet from the shoulder, when they were struck by an eastbound car driven by Mrs. Judith A. Puplava, 28, of 24 S. Hillgate Rd. Mrs. Puplava was quoted by police as stating she did not see the girls until she was upon them. According to the report the car traveled 33 feet before the driver applied the brakes. The car came to a halt 105 feet from the point of impact, and there were 72 feet of skid-marks on the road's surface. Miss Pels was thrown 72 feet and the Beebe girls was found 79 feet from the point where she was hit. James D. Pels, Edgeway Ct., Brightwood, was attracted to the scene by the flashing lights and the number of cars, not realizing that his daughter was involved. He made identification before the body was taken to the Frankfort Community Chapel. The Beebe girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Beebe, Burr Oak Lane, Brightwood, was taken to Silver Cross Hospital, Joliet, and placed in the intensive care section. Because of severe head injuries her condition is listed as critical. There is brain damage. She also suffered multiple cuts and abrasions and her

Plan 83-171 Net Rebuild

LEMONT -- Complete reconstruction of the roads intersecting at Rt. 83 and Rt. 171 (Archer Ave.) east of Lemont is expected sometime this coming year. The cost would be $500,000. A.C. Braming, assistant engineer for the Illinois Division of Highways, said the project has been proposed and is before Gov. Richard Ogilvie for approval and funding. "There have been a lot of accidents, a lot of deaths" out there, Braming said. Plans for a new interchange of the four roads and a network of connector streets have been worked out over a period of years. They were ready last year, but the improvement was too far down on a priority list and was not funded in 1969. It's near the top of the list now, he said. Approval or rejection will come by the end of the month.

The highway department is prepared to let bids on the work soon after, according to Braming. The redesign of the intersection includes road widening, installation of median strips and turn lanes, and traffic control signals. The project will take about 200 working days, and those will be spread out over two construction seasons. If work begins this spring, it would be completed in the fall of 1971, according to engineers. They say some parts will be slow going because blasting of rock is involved. The work has been divided into phases to allow smooth traffic flow while construction is taking place. Roads entering the area which will be affected are Lemont-Sag Rd., Archer Ave. (Rt. 171), Rt. 83 and Bell Rd.

Smother Dist. 205 Referendum At Polls

LOCKPORT -- Unofficial figures indicated that about 7,000 voters turned out for Tuesday's school referendum election. They defeated the building proposal 4,474 to 2,399 and the educational rate was defeated by nearly 2,000 votes. A referendum has not been passed in District 205 since 1963. The turnout at Central was tremendous. There were people of all ages and all walks of life. Some of the voters seemed to be in a reasonably bad mood, while others visited with their neighbors while waiting to vote. Some handed their ballot to the election judge, and said, "I've just cancelled somebody's vote." They arrived in a steady stream from noon until the polls closed at 9 p.m. Many of the people who were at the polls most of the day had the feeling that people weren't voting against the education of the children as much as voting against taxes in general. People have very little to say about federal taxes, or the new state income tax, but this (a school election) is their chance to voice their disapproval. Harold Scholle, the district superintendent said, "I can't make myself believe that people actually vote against kids; they are voting against taxes." The unofficial count is as follows: THE PROPOSED BUILDING PROGRAM PRECINCT YES NO Chaney 226 437 Richland 82 129 Fairmont 52 257 Ludwig 251 742 Homer 86 272

If, in 30 days, 10 per cent of the voters in the district have not requested a referendum, the district is allowed by state law to sell bonds to cover teacher's salaries. The amount received from the sale of these bonds, is deducted from the district's bonding power. (205's current bonding power is $8.1 million.) When Youngstown, Ohio schools were faced with a problem similar to District 205's, they managed to keep the schools open by persuading everybody to pay their taxes three months in advance. It is not known at this time what District 205 will do.

Board Approves Tally

LOCKPORT -- The final tally on the District 205 referendum was officially approved by the board at an adjourned meeting, Thursday, Dec. 18. The figures are: 2399 "yes" and 4474

"no" for the building proposal and 2449 "yes" and 4395 "no" for the proposed educational rate increase. -Passed a resolution establishing a working cash fund.

August Carnival Date Set In Romeo

By LOUISE SCHALLER

ROMEOVILLE -- Romeo trustees approved a carnival to be sponsored by the Jaycees at the Wednesday, Dec. 17, board meeting. Parade committee officials had asked groups who had previously had booths at the fun fair to write letters to the village board explaining their objections to a carnival being held within two weeks of the parade and fun fair. These letters were examined by some of the trustees.

Harry Betzel, trustee, made the motion to allow the carnival August 11-16, with the motion seconded by William Bessette. Trustees Len Kolpacki and Jerry Capps voted "yes". One "no" vote was cast by John Veninga and Duane Rosendahl passed his vote, saying he would like an opportunity to make a longer study.

Persons who have operated booths at the fun fair or desire to do so will be allowed to have their projects in operation at the carnival, on a plan of a portion of the profits.

Board members entered an executive session to discuss personnel. Re-opening of the meeting brought an attempt by Jerry Capps, trustee, to make a motion to pay the legal bills of George Ketchmark. Capps said the legal counsel for the village had said a taxpayers suit could be instituted, but there was no certainty that such a proceeding would be won by the parties suing. Mayor O'Hara ruled the motion out of order and called for the meeting to continue.

Several residents appeared to present petitions asking for a recreation center. Trustees assured the group that the village garage will be remodeled into a recreation facility as other phases of the village expansion are instituted.

Trustees Kolpacki, Bessette, and Capps will meet with the owners of the "Live-ly" homes on Dec. 21, at 2 p.m. Bessette questioned why he had not been notified that a meeting had taken place on Tuesday night. Capps said he had not had sufficient time to notify everyone.

Trustees will meet the second Saturday in January and discuss needed sidewalk work to be done in the village. Use of motor fuel tax money was discussed and also a charge of 50/50 with the property owners, or a 25/75 percentage, or payment of 100 per cent of the cost by the village was discussed.

Richard Buck, village attorney, was asked to revise the ordinance dealing with liquor licenses. Capps asked for a change for a service bar in the Nordic House Restaurant, and that a provision be made for two more pack-age liquor permits.

The next regular board meeting is Jan. 7, at the Civic Center, at 7:30 p.m.

Services Are Told

LEMONT -- The Rev. Gilbert Schaller, pastor of St. Matthew's Evangelical Lutheran Church, 305 Lemont St., has announced the hours for services during the holidays.

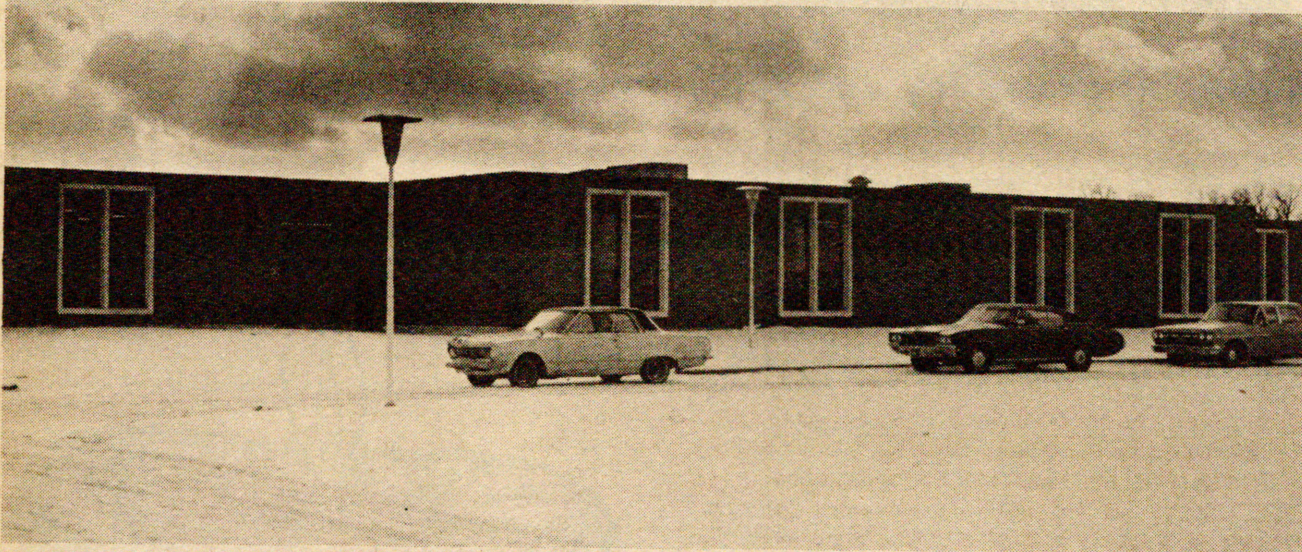

On Christmas eve, the traditional service for children and adults begins at 6:30 p.m. Title of the service is "Children, Jesus and Christmas."

On Christmas day, the one service will be at 10 a.m.

On New Year's eve, there will be a Watch-Nite special service. That starts at 7:30 p.m. There will be no services New Year's day.

Rev. Schaller also has reminded parishioners that installation of new officers to the church council will be Dec. 28 at 10:30 a.m.

GREETINGS

THE NEW OAKWOOD SCHOOL of District 113, Lemont, opens for classes Jan. 5 following a long Christmas recess that will allow equipment and persons to move in. School authorities have asked that auto traffic use only Kim Place to reach the

tional Honor Society and the Guidance Department, and will be held Tuesday, Dec. 23 at 1 p.m. All Lockport West alumni who are currently enrolled in college are cordially invited to participate. For more information, contact Mr. Mander at 838-4020, extension 42.

To Take Garbage Bids Jan. 21

NEW LENOX -- The New Lenox village board had a relative short session last week, the meeting ending before 10 o'clock.

The board will open bids Jan. 21 for the garbage pick-up contract and the board hopes to have a schedule of sewer tap on fees in the near future so an ordinance covering same can be enacted. It is possible the ordinance can be approved next month.

The fee schedule is to be drawn by Robert Hamilton & Associates, village engineers, and turned over to Village Attorney Wayne Johnson.

The fees will cover the services of both sewer and water. It was brought out that a unit in a motel used less water than a single family dwelling.

Lincoln-Way Mobil station, operated by Gerald Shreffler, was low bidder on gasoline to be furnished to the village police and street department vehicles. The price was a flat 25 cents a gallon. There were five bids submitted, the others ranging from 26 to 28 cents.

The sewer extension into the Markov subdivision, which passed the inspection of the village engineer, was accepted by the village through action last Wednesday night.

Victor Victoris, a building contractor, will have to buy a new building permit if he wishes to proceed with erection of a house, the board decided. Work had been halted and the original permit revoked for alleged non-compliance with village rules and regulations. The contractor asked that a new permit be issued without charge. The board said "no."

The board also said no to a request by grade school officials to install a yellow flasher light at Haines and Cedar Rd. that could be operated when classes are leaving the school. A yellow flasher is a warning light for traffic to slow and if necessary stop. The village board and the police department feel that inasmuch as there are signs along that stretch of Cedar advertizing it as a school zone, a crossing guard, and the presence of a squad car there when school lets out provide sufficient protection. Any more signs or lights, officials feel, would just make it confusing.

Bishop Blanchette's Message Is One Of Peace

(The Christmas message of the Most Rev. Romeo Blanchette, bishop of the Diocese of Joliet, embracing seven counties, has been released to the approximately 300,000 Roman Catholics in his charge. The message follows:)

"On earth peace to men of good will." These words which we find in the Scripture readings for Christmas seem strange to us as we note unhappily that in many regions of the world there is warfare. Moreover, we note with sadness also that there is much unrest and much rebellion in our nation - and, indeed, seemingly throughout the world. "And yet, almost two thousand years ago, the prophet Isaiah said, 'For a child is born to us ... and his name low His words? These are of Peace.' (Chap. 9, v.6) What has happened? Has the Prince of Peace spoken? Have we forgotten His words? Do we close our ears? Do we refuse to listen? Do we hear but refuse to follow His words? These are momentous questions. And each one of us must answer them in his heart, face to face with God.

"We are aware of a yearning for peace today. The words of Christ to His disciples, 'Peace be with you' are repeated daily in our liturgical services, especially in the Holy Sacrifice of the mass. We still remember vividly the words of Pope Paul VI at the United Nations four years ago 'War ... no more war!' But to eradicate war men of good will are required. Love of God and love of our neighbor because of God are the manifestations of this good will.

"The struggle for peace must begin in the heart and soul of each individual: How can we expect peace in the family, peace in the community, peace in the city, peace in the nation, and peace in the world -- if we have not found peace within ourselves?

"And what is peace? 'The tranquility of order' is how St. Thomas defined it. Do we have this tranquility within ourselves? Are our thoughts, words, and deeds rightly ordered to our God? Are they rightly ordered to God's creatures, chief of whom are our neighbors, made to God's image and likeness?

"Only when we have learned to acknowledge our dependence on God and as brothers one to another - can we hope to achieve some measure of peace. It is a peace which only God can give. It requires prayer, humility, unselfishness, and obedience; it requires the rejection of pride, prejudice, greed, self-gratification and yes, of sloth and apathy.

"When Christ was born, He humbled Himself. ('You will find an infant wrapped in swaddling clothes ...')

When Christ was born, He came to teach us to do penance. ('Take up your cross daily and come follow me.') When Christ was born, He came to teach us how to love one another. ('And this commandment we have from God, that he who loves God loves also his brother.') (I John 4, 24)

"Let us resolve, then to follow the example of the Christ Child, whose birthday we celebrate today: Let us pray for peace, let us sacrifice for peace, let us speak out and work for peace. But let us be sure that his peace first resides in our souls, that we are truly at peace with God, so that we can in all sincerity pray and work unceasingly for peace in our nation and throughout the world.

"My prayer for all of you is: May the peace of the Lord be with you at Christmas and always!"

OPINION PAGE

Christmas Peace

"Peace on earth; goodwill toward men." should have a deeper meaning for all of us this Christmas season. Man's troubled world has little enough of either.

Christmas Love

Love from the heart is Christmas, It's warm and heartfelt glow, Surrounds all people, homes and trees, Gifts, lights and mistletoe. Love is a part of Christmas, Evident in everything. Christmas cards and seals, exchanging gifts, And songs the carollers sing. Love that is shared at Christmas, Can increase good will and cheer, So there'll be enough, to overflow, And fill the coming year. Love came to us at Christmas, Brought to earth by the Christ Child born, With peace and good will towards all men, On that first Christmas morn.

--Hazel Adelman

And yet, despite, or because of our differences, there seems to be a strong resurgence of a true Christian spirit sweeping our country. Men of all religious and political persuasions are coming to realize that man cannot exist in a world of hate and bigotry. There must be a togetherness and an aura of love for all if we are to survive.

On this Christmas Day, let us all remember what this day really is all about. It is the birthday of a man extra-ordinary. A man who knew, even then, the foibles of which mortals are prone to exhibit. The Christ knew not the weaknesses of other men and yet He understood, forgave, and died that all men might know a better way.

If each of us could remember just a little of that spirit and learn from experience that each of us, in every way and everyday, must accept the concept of brotherly love, we shall know peace. Then, truly, the world may know, "Peace on earth; goodwill toward men."

A Merry Christmas and a Happy and Peaceful New Year to All Our Readers from the Southwest Graphic Family.

Christmas Spirit

At this time of the rolling year, to borrow a graphic phrase from Mr. Dickens, the power of Christmas rises to supplant the bids for other powers that are sought by individuals or groups for their own selfish ends. There are many interpretations of Christmas put forth by theologians and historians. But in our nation, as in other parts of the world, no matter how it may be observed, the power of Christmas makes itself felt in every home.

Even the most cynical must bow before the moving experience of Christmas. This perhaps, is the best evidence of the truth of the events of almost 2,000 years ago that introduced reverence and humility in the life of man.

Although there are some who are inclined to brush this aside in today's materialistic world, Christianity has given man a conscience, a sense of right and wrong and a determination to appear worthy in the eyes of his Creator.

The tenets of Christianity are the basis of modern civilization. They stand between man and the jungle from which he came so long ago. Much of the confusion, much of the strife and intellectual decay we see around us today but reflect a denial of ancient truths that have guided Christian behavior for some 20 centuries.

As we come to another Christmas we should try to analyze the thing we call the Christmas spirit. It is more, than good cheer, Christmas cards and presents under the Christmas tree.

The Christmas spirit separates man from the beast. Christmas is a time of renewal, as well as rejoicing. It is the most important moment of the year.

Christmas is not joyous, as the kin of victims in holiday season tragedies can tell you.

Maybe it was an auto accident in the dead of night that took the life of the father, or maybe it was an eye poked out by some carelessly designed battery-powered toy, or maybe it was a lack of attention to a quickly dying Christmas tree that ignited.

The situations of tragedy are the ones that were reversed from rejoicing -- the difference was brought by carelessness or indifference.

Because it is the season for extra happiness, it must also be the season for extra caution.

Government tries to help. The state police, for instance, are supporting a nationwide Coffee Safety Stop program. Hundreds of restaurants in the state are offering free coffee to travelers during peak travel hours.

Private groups make their bid to help. Tips as an example by the Chicago Motor Club, on ways to practice drinking temperance are given. More than half of all traffic fatalities involve a drinking driver,

"He likes my grits"

Here Lies District 205

Once again the voters have defeated a referendum which asked only that the people support a sound education for their children. The Dec. 16 vote, unofficially, displayed an amazing indifference to the needs of our youngsters.

Less than one-third of the registered voters in District 205 went to the polls. This, too, reveals the apathy of persons unwilling to take the few minutes necessary to mark a ballot. As in most voting situations, the "nay" voters are the ones who trek to the polls. Those favoring the passage of public improvement program are usually in the minority when it comes to standing up for their beliefs.

If and when the time comes that District 205 must resort to cutbacks in school programs, educational facilities and teaching standards then the indignant outcries will resound. That the district is now in dire circumstances is plainly seen. Without funds to pay teachers there will be no school. Money must be found to continue the school year after the expenditure of available funds. March, 1970 is the deadline.

The alternative measures needed to keep the schools open will find even more displeasure among the dissident voters. Exceedingly high interest rates on script, which may be sold to banking institutions, will find the district going further into debt. The principal and interest will have to come out of future budgets and on and on.

The Concerned Taxpayers League opposed the referendum, but as of today have offered no alternative program. We would be interested in knowing if they have a solution to the problems confronting the district. If this organization, or any other group, has an answer now is the time to come forward. Further delay will only aggravate an already perplexing financial crisis.

Despite the actual tax burden now carried by the American citizen, there still remains the cold, hard facts of reality. Our schools have an ever-increasing enrollment; an ever-larger operating expense, and perhaps most of all, an ever-mounting obligation to the students. All this may sound distasteful to some. It may even appear unreasonable to a few, but facts are facts.

Education has gone far beyond the three "R's" and today's technology and philosophy demand much more from our children. If they are to improve our society, remove the stigma of conflict and cope with their coming adult responsibilities we must find the means with which to prepare them.

Maybe the defeated referendum asked for too much in the view of the voters. Perhaps if the tax rate increase had been the only issue, or the building bond portion of the referendum the only issue, we might have seen a different result in the vote. To have presented only a portion of the referendum to the public would have been a disservice and a deception. District 205 is capably managed and cognizant of the essentials for the continued quality education of our children.

Our sons and daughters might well ask, "What do you intend to do?"

the organization says. So, for party givers, the group advises not to force drinks on guests, to offer a selection of non-alcoholic beverages, to have food available and put it out early, and to persuade persons who've had too much to drink not to drive themselves.

Professional associations give recommendations. Eyes, says the Illinois Optometric Association in yet another example, are easily injured. The danger is especially great for children. Watch out for poorly designed toys with sharp, pointed or rough edges that can cut or poke. Poorly constructed toys, such as those made of thin, brittle plastic can shatter. Darts and missile-throwing toys should be kept out of the reach of younger children.

Newspapers write editorials recommending care and caution -- for example, our comments in this space.

And as the holidays come to their close, the columns in the tally sheets are still filled with fatalities and injuries just as surely as all efforts to the contrary.

U.S. World Defense: Are We Getting Dividends?

PROBE CENTERING ON PHILIPPINES SHOWS BENEFITS TO US NOT GREAT

By MARGARET THOMPSON

(Copyright 1969, Congressional Quarterly Inc.)

WASHINGTON -- Has the United States received fair dividends from its network of postwar global-defense commitments?

That question is being pursued by a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee headed by Sen. Stuart Symington (D Mo.).

At least in one case -- that of the Philippines -- the balance sheet drawn up by most members of the panel was weighted toward the negative.

In four days of closed-door hearings early in October, the panel heard State Department and Pentagon officials describe U.S. extensive military and monetary commitments to its former territory.

Censored Transcript

A heavily censored 363-page transcript of the hearings -- made public Nov. 19 -- revealed the following:

-- Formal U. S. defense pledges had been progressively deepened by the Executive Branch since the two nations signed a Mutual Defense Treaty in 1951.

-- Extensive U.S. bases in the country, including Clark Air Force Base -- the largest U.S. airfield in the Pacific -- were costing American taxpayers more than $270 million annually in operating costs alone, in addition to a $150-million annual dollar outflow economic activity directly generated by the bases. But use of the bases for the Vietnam war has been severely restricted.

-- Military aid expenditures in fiscal years 1965-69 averaged $22.5 million annually. Much of it went to support Philippines government activities in combating internal insurgency - efforts in which, it was disclosed, U.S. troops had sometimes directly participated.

-- In addition to military and economic assistance (which totaled $2 billion between 1946 and 1968), the United States paid more than $35 million to support a 1,446-man noncombat Filipino force in Vietnam. Similar support was provided to South Korea and Thailand for their Vietnam participation.

Defense Pledges

Testimony indicated that in return for the Philippines' joining the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO), the United States in 1954 delivered a note declaring that an attack on the Philippines would be considered tantamount to an attack on U.S. military forces stationed there as well.

A joint communique in 1958 pledged that the United States would "instantly repel" an attack on the Philippines.

Finally, an executive agreement of 1959 -- known as the Bohlen-Serrano agreement -- pledged the United States to have prior consultations with the Philippines before launching offensive combat missions from its military bases in the country, or before stationing nuclear weapons there.

Subsequent statements reaffirmed and solidified these commitments. And President Nixon has said he will honor existing defense pledges.

Such arrangements, charged Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D Ark.), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, condition "the attitude of these governments. If they have the impression that they can at any time call upon us at their pleasure, it is a very dangerous attitude for them to assume."

In addition, he said, the method of expanding the defense pledge bypassed the Senate advice and consent required in treaty-making. And the Executive agreement to take immediate action to repel an attack seemed to compromise Congress' power to declare war, he said.

The way the commitment was broadened, as well as its contents, "eliminated the idea of any participation of the Congress in the whole process," Fulbright said.

U.S. Bases

The Symington panel learned that the huge Clark Air Base was not used for B-52 Vietnam bombing missions, despite its relative proximity.

Administration officials indicated the Philippines would probably veto such operations.

As a consequence -- and because U.S. military officials consider the Clark facilities "inadequate" -- bombing missions are flown from more-distant Guam. This situation, said Symington, has added considerably to Vietnam war costs.

Thus, at a time when the bases could be profitably used for Vietnam missions, they are bypassed. And, in view of the Administration's expressed desire to scale down its Asian presence to avoid direct involvement in future Vietnams, some Senators expressed doubt whether all the U.S. military facilities would be necessary in the post-Vietnam era.

While the panel questioned whether the bases served America's own security interests, testimony revealed that there was no substantial external threat to the Philippines and that the possibility of a Communist Chinese attack was very remote.

Internal Threat

The principal danger to the Philippines, Pentagon officials testified, lay in the activities of the Huk, a decentralized, Communist-inspired movement which numbers about 400 hard-core activists among a total population of 37 million Filipinos.

Huks have been responsible for thefts averaging $1 million a year from Clark, and have contributed to what an unnamed intelligence colonel called a "general air of lawlessness" around the base.

The fact that considerable U.S. military aid has gone to support Philippine government efforts to combat Huk insurgency led Fulbright to comment that another dimension may have been added to the U.S. defense commitment -- that of supporting the status quo and present government.

Support for Vietnam

U.S. support of the noncombat Filipino force in Vietnam (known as PHILCAG) provoked sharp criticism from the subcommittee.

Members of the panel wondered why a Filipino combat battalion earmarked for SEATO operations was not dispatched instead.

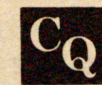

Administration witnesses said the Philippines did not consider its Vietnam arrangement as falling within SEATO commitments, and were reluctant to send a combat mission there. Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos recently said even the PHILCAG group would be withdrawn by the end of the year.

Said Fulbright: "All we did was to go over and hire their soldiers in order to support our then Administration's view that so many people were in sympathy with our war in Vietnam. And we paid a very high price for it."

Subcommittee publication of the hearings -- first in a series of country-by-country investigations -- comes at a time when U.S. -Philippine defense relations are under review. President Marcos, who has said there still is a need for the U.S. nuclear umbrella, has requested renegotiation of the base arrangements to make them more equitable. The Administration has agreed, and talks are expected to begin early in 1970. The Philippine government, like the Symington subcommittee, would like to see the U.S. presence scaled down and some of the bases relocated or relinquished.

Land Purchase Laws

To Help Retirees

SOME DEALERS UNSCRUPULOUS

The Illinois resident who plans to retire to another state and is thinking about investing in a retirement home development should know something about the laws that protect him from developers whose tactics are questionable or downright illegal.

According to the Illinois State Bar Association, both federal and state legislation has been enacted to deal with land investment problems, including two of the most common ones--high pressure salesmen and the purchase of property sight unseen.

One protection against unscrupulous dealers is the federal Interstate Land Sales Full Disclosure Act. This law, which became effective this year requires developers who sell land in interstate commerce or through the mails to register with the federal government in most cases.

The federally registered land developer is required to furnish each purchaser with a detailed report on the property, including a description of the subdivision, information concerning uses for which the land is suitable, what must be done to develop it for a residence and what additional costs are involved.

The ISBA warns that the prospective buyer should not sign a contract until he receives the developer's property report. According to the federal law, if the buyer signs the contract and then receives the report, he may void the sale anytime within 48 hours after receiving the report.

If he received the report prior to signing the contract, he has 48 hours in which to cancel provided he did not inspect the property before signing. No cancellation period is provided for the buyer who both received the report and inspected the property before signing the contract.

Illinois requires all foreign (meaning out-of-state) corporations operating in Illinois to register with the Secretary of State and it is one of five states (the others are Hawaii, New York, California and Florida) to require sellers of out-of-state land to disclose certain information to the buyer. In this respect, it somewhat duplicates the federal requirement.

The ISBA offers this advice to anyone who intends to invest in a retirement development, whether to provide for a future retirement home or for speculative purposes:

1. Be wary of high pressure salesmen and advertising gimmicks.

On popular sales technique is to offer vacation trip to the property. Be certain that "free" doesn't mean a one-way ticket unless you purchase some land.

2. Inspect the property.

Don't rely on pictures, charts, and promises. A common ploy is the promise that other developments are being built nearby, and that these will increase the value of your investment. Check out any such information.

3. Read the property report.

It should be sufficiently detailed and simple to reasonably assure the prospective purchaser that he will understand the material aspects of the offering and conditions of the property at the time the offering is made.

4. Do some sleuthing.

Contact the local Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce to learn the seller's reputation. Also check prices to see what other property is selling for in the area. Learn what local ordinances will affect your property and the use you've planned for it.

5. Obtain a written contract.

Be sure you understand its terms before you sign. The contract should award clear title to the property.

Change Ammo Law

NO SALES REGISTRATION

Congress completed action on Nov. 20 and sent to the President for his signature an extension of the interest equalization tax with a controversial amendment repealing part of the 1968 Gun Control Act.

The amendment, called a "rider" because it was unrelated to the bill it was attached to, repealed the requirement that sales of rifle and shotgun ammunition must be registered by dealers. The provision, combined with the way it was implemented by officials, had produced opposition in hunting states.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett (R Utah), who with 46 cosponsors offered the amendment to the otherwise uncontroversial bill, originally included .22 caliber rimfire cartridges and other ammunition interchangeable between rifles and handguns, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (D. Mass.), acting as majority floor leader on the bill, refused to let it come up for a vote in that form. The Gun Control Act was passed in the aftermath of the assassination of his brother, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York.

Critics called the ammunition registration requirements set up by the Treasury Department "backdoor" registration of firearms.

When Bennett compromised by deleting interchangeable ammunition, the amendment passed 65-16 on Oct. 9 and was later kept in the bill by the conference committee.

The House approved the conference report on Nov. 19 in a 334-47 roll-call vote. Senate action came by voice vote the following day.

The interest equalization tax is a balance of international payments measure. By imposing a tax on purchase of foreign securities, decreasing their attraction to Americans and increasing the cost to foreigners of raising capital in the United States, it reduces the outflow of dollars. It was first passed in 1964. The bill extended it to March 31, 1971.

Separating the Facts from the Fallacies in the Serious Matter of Air Pollution.

What follows in this memorandum is a statement of the facts, as honestly and accurately as we can determine them. It represents an attempt to sift truth from myth, and to separate what we know from what we guess or wish or fear.

It is not meant to be a defense of any company, or of any segment of society—much less a pointing of the finger at anyone else, or to relieve each citizen and each corporation of their full measure of responsibility for cleaning up the dirty air.

To obtain a comprehensive understanding of the nature of air pollution, we must start with the hard facts that everyone agrees upon:

First, air pollution is caused chiefly by the waste products of combustion of various fuels. The more population we have, the more urbanization, the more factories, the more homes and cars, the more fuel we must burn—and the more waste we produce.

Second, of all the contaminants emitted into the air above the entire United States each year, about 60 percent comes from transportation, about 18.5 percent from manufacturing, about 12.5 percent from electric generation, and about 9 percent from space heating and refuse disposal. These nationwide percentages are taken from the National Academy of Sciences, in its authoritative report, "Waste Management and Control."

Third, as our cities get larger, and industries continue to expand, the need for more fuel and more power to supply these growing needs begins to outstrip the ability to lower the level of waste as quickly and efficiently as is needed.

Thus, this problem might be conceived, basically, as a race between what is called "progress" and what is called "pollution." What is needed is to find a fair and workable equation that will optimize our economic and industrial growth, while at the same time reducing air pollution to tolerable, or even insignificant, levels.

Nobody likes air pollution. Nobody wants it. It is an unfortunate by-product of all high-energy societies; and it is perfectly true that these societies have been so busy building up their Gross National Product that they have paid less attention than they should have to the environmental deterioration that has inevitably accompanied such growth.

Now all such societies—and the U.S. is foremost among them—are calling for a redress of this imbalance between economic affluence and environmental poverty.

It is a proper call. It must be heeded. Not to do so would be not only to be a bad citizen, but to be a stubborn and shortsighted producer. There is a bill to be paid for our progress, and it must be paid wholeheartedly.

Since this memorandum is neither a plea in self-extenuation, nor a boast about what Commonwealth Edison has done and is doing to control or reduce air pollution, we take the liberty of pointing out only one basic fact about our operations: We burn about two-thirds of the coal in the Chicago area, but, in the air you breathe, we account for less than 10 percent of the sulfur dioxide; less than 5 percent of contaminants of all kinds.

This is just to set the record straight. It is not to say we have done enough—or that anybody has done enough. It is not to suggest we are any better than anyone else, or to absolve us from our full responsibility for making all our stations in and around Chicago as clean as possible, as soon as possible. (Our Plan of Action and our Timetable will be reported in detail in a later message.)

Air pollution is a serious matter, for all citizens, in every city, in every developed country in the world.

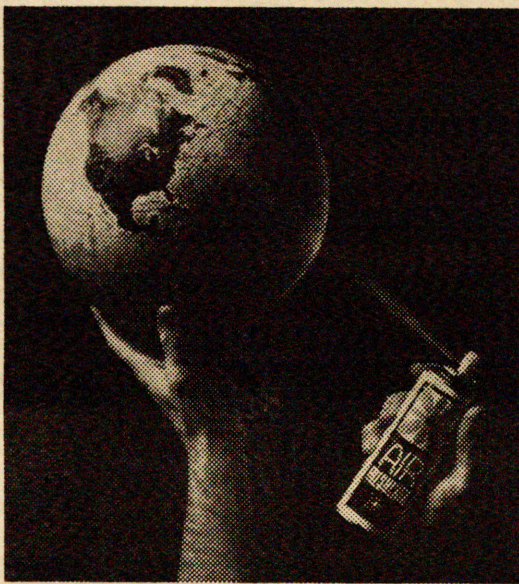

It is too serious to become a political football, or an emotional and partisan issue, or a platform on which companies can thump their chests and proclaim their virtue and good citizenship. Deeds, not words, are what the public is looking for—and has a right to get.

Commonwealth Edison has already spent more than $50 million in facilities to prevent contaminants from getting into the air; and is spending hundreds of millions on new nuclear stations which add no fumes or dirt to the air.

But it is beside the fact that we have spent "x" millions of dollars, and committed millions more.

What is important is our recognition of the gravity of the problem, and our acceptance of the plain fact that everybody must do more—beginning with ourselves—to make our city, our nation, our world, a better, brighter, sweeter (and not just richer) place for us and our children to enjoy.

Up, Up And Away! --- Insurance For Police

FRANKFORT -- If the Village of Frankfort -- or any other municipality -- wants to take out insurance protecting its police against liability in the event they should have to put down a riot or civil disorder, it is going to have to go to Lloyds of London and pay a high premium.

That is what Grant Geuther, of Lambrecht's Agency, told the village board at its regular meeting last week. This coverage offered by Lloyds would cover police against recovery through court action for damages stemming from charges of false arrest or bodily injury.

The American companies that have been writing such insurance aren't doing it anymore, Geuther said. So many claims arose in the past year in the wake of "peace" demonstrations and riots, it was pointed out, that the insurance companies decided they can't afford the time and money to combat them.

Whether the claims are counterfeit, as many of them proved to be, or are legitimate makes no difference, it was explained. Each has to be investigated and that costs money.

Since the meeting with the board Geuther has called numerous companies relative to such coverage but none of them are having any, he reported, other than Lloyds. They will gamble on practically any situation man may dream up -- if the price is right. To cover police against false arrest or infliction of bodily harm, Geuther told the board, will cost approximately $100 per man.

The Frankfort board will decide soon what it will do in this situation. The village is covered now in the event someone is injured or suffers property damage as a result of an accident involving a police car.

The regular insurance package covering the liability just mentioned as well as for fire, tornadoes, public liability, workmen's compensation and the like, subject to valuation changes, will be renewed as a routine matter. Musical Evening For Nuns

Marie Hovi
Telephone 479-5740

The nuns of the mother house at St. Francis of the Woods are being treated to a musical evening on Dec. 22. It will be presented by a group of students from St. Marys, under the direction of Sister Alvena.

St. Mary's Christmas program was held at the "Cow Palace" on Dec. 20 and 21. It was a musical program, put on by the fourth, fifth and sixth graders under the direction of Sister Alvena. It was held on two nights due to the seating capacity.

The Christmas Bazaar held at St. Mary's was a big success. The net profit showed that the many ladies who worked for several months did a fine job.

Beth Broekstra, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Broekstra, Beechnut Drive, had her tonsils removed last week. Sure hope she feels up to par by Christmas.

Mrs. Lois Mangan on Hickory St. returned home last week following surgery at St. James Hospital in Chicago Heights.

With the herd of youngsters all out of school for the holidays, please drive with added care. The kids may forget you, but you cannot forget them.

We are in urgent need of scouts or children to display our flag. Anyone interested please contact Mrs. Ott at 532-6730.

Families Welcome 23 Foreign Students

BY MARGE RATCLIFFE

LOCKPORT -- Twenty-three students from other countries, who are enrolled in Chicago area schools, spent the Thanksgiving holidays in Lockport as guests of many area residents.

Their visit is part of the International Thanksgiving Fellowship, which is coordinated through the International House at the University of Chicago. Invitations are issued to all foreign students in Chicago.

According to Mrs. Harold Finley, area chairman, approximately 4,000 invitations are sent out, with three to four hundred students accepting. Lockport, one of eight participating communities in Illinois, has extended its hospitality to students for 11 years.

The program is supported by the Lockport Priests and Pastors, the Lions Club, the Rotary, the Lockport Business and Professional Women's Club and the Lockport Woman's Club. In addition to monetary assistance, members from the various groups help with travel arrangements for the visitors.

Many people involved in the program have formed lasting relationships with their visitors. The Finley's first guest, from Gander, Newfoundland, has been with them to celebrate their wedding anniversary and his birthday, which occur on the same day, for eight of the 11 years they have known him.

The Robert Morse family, formerly of Lockport, and now of Wautoma, Wisconsin, first opened their home to Larry Wan, from Hong Kong, in November of 1959. Since that time, he has become what Adele Morse describes as "an integral part of our family life."

He shared a room with the Morse's son Mike, who was then 17. Both boys shared an interest in medicine and had much in common. Since that time, both have become doctors. Mike is currently serving his internship in Salt Lake City, Utah and until recently, Larry was at Los Angeles County Hospital.

Larry has spent all major holidays with the Morse's, with the exception of one Christmas and two Thanksgivings, since 1959. The whole family fondly remembers the time he decided to cook a Chinese dinner for everyone.

He purchased three heads of cabbage, two chickens, five pounds of frozen shrimp and many other items and used every pan in the house. The Morse's had invited guests for dinner, because of the large amount of food being prepared -- they were all surprised to find that Larry had never been allowed in the kitchen in his homeland, and did not know how to cook. The dinner was a 24 carat disaster.

Larry visited the Morse's shortly before Thanksgiving this year. He has enlisted in the U. S. Medical Corps as a Major, and left for Vietnam on Thanksgiving Day.

Thirteen Lockport area families opened their homes to visitors this year. Miss Yupa Kittiwanch of Thailand, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Bismarck; Richard Lee, of China, visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Daun in Romeoville; Mr. and Mrs.

Jordan; Tran Thong, of Vietnam, was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson of Romeoville.

Father Elias Sevilla-Casas, an Anthropology student from Columbia, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kolar; Mr. and Mrs. Max Whitten and their three children, from Australia visited with Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Korst and their family; Hope Placensio acted as hostess for Bassam Mittwalli of Jordan; and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stadelmeir, of Romeoville, shared their Thanksgiving with Boman Desai, a student of architecture from India.

Jurgeon Menslage, of Germany were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Edson; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Finley entertained Miss Helga Wilson, of Denmark.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Harlan had three guests, Salim Rehmat, of Tanzania, William Delavari and Farhad Dolatshahi, both of Iran; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Harpham and their four daughters entertained Miss Catherine Hamet of France; The Rev. and Mrs. John Huff of Romeoville were hosts to Mrs. Kiwha Chung and her two sons, of Korea; Mr. and Mrs. George Jerabek were hosts to Saman Dihui, of

City Gets Ready For Holidays

By Marge Ratcliffe
Telephone 838-0044

Many residents of Lockport have gone to a great deal of trouble and expense to decorate their homes this year. The city is literally aglow at night. Take a ride some evening and enjoy it...

As Christmas draws near many children are undergoing a distinct change in behavioral patterns. I have only seen one letter to Santa Claus which admitted that the writer had been slightly less than angelic all year...

Fred Darin, local wit, has suggested that I add a little more "spice" to my reporting. I am happy to accommodate him. Cinnamon, nutmeg, ginger, and allspice...

At one of the recent referendum meetings, I heard a great description of the oftmentioned "frills" provided by the high school. A frill is something your child doesn't take part in...

Lockport

Congratulations to Julie Moulthrop, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. George Moulthrop, recently awarded the DAR Good Citizen Award. Julie is a student at Lockport Central...

There are still a few Lion Club fruitcakes available. If you haven't seen any around, contact Gene Korst, local chairman...

The last two holiday seasons have been less than perfect for some of us. Last year, everybody had the flu and this year, we all stayed up to watch Tiny Tim get married. I think I liked the flu better...

According to a news release from the Ill. Association of Plumbing, Heating and Cooling Contractors, "remote control" sink stoppers are now available. They're installed next to the faucet. What a smashing idea! Think I'll add it to my Christmas list...

Many of the young girls in Lockport are wearing Maxi-coats. I can't help wondering what they'd be like in about eight inches of snow. However, they look great...

Many couples enjoyed the Lions Club annual Christmas party for their wives. All the "better halves" were presented with a favor and a door prize, none of which, I am happy to report, were whisk brooms...

This week, all our family will arrive from various places in the state, to help us celebrate Christmas. It gets a little crowded and more than a little chaotic, but it's my favorite time of the year. However, pending the arrival of my mother, I think I'd better clean my oven...

Have a very Merry Christmas!!

To our customers
a very cheery

QUESTION:

Could you tell me the various kinds of insurance the Homeowners policy includes?

ANSWER:

Space won't permit listing all the coverages but the basic ones are fire, theft and personal or family liability. There are so many additional protections that you should discuss this policy personally with a competent insurance agent.

LOCKPORT -- An application for a permit to organize the Bank of Lockport has been received by the commissioner of banks and trusts.

Commissioner Roland W. Blaha said capitalization of the proposed bank would be $500,000 including capital stock, $200,000; surplus, $200,000, and reserve for operating expenses, $100,000. There will be 20,000 shares with a par value of $10 per share.

The proposed bank is to be located on Route 7 at Lockport in Will County.

Organizers of the bank are Vernon S. Hoesch, G.K. Pilkenton, G. Ward Stearns, Arlo L. Schilling and J. Jay Gerber, all of Naperville; F. W. Robbins of Hinsdale; John W. Norman and William J. Callahan of Lisle.

No Home Delivery For Frankfort

FRANKFORT -- Recently the village board was asked by citizens to add its voice to those seeking home mail delivery and Village Clerk Walter Pfaff was instructed to write Congressman Leslie Arends in pursuit of the matter.

Congressman Arends took the proposal up through channels and wrote Frankfort village officials he was sorry but that he was unable to win an affirmative answer.

According to one of the congressman's staff the population count at Frankfort is not conducive to mail delivery. It seems like a head count of 2,500 is necessary among other conditions, if a community is to get home delivery of mail.

But the letter received at Frankfort tells of an additional requirement. According to this at least 1,200 people must be living practically on top of the post office. Apparently, it was pointed out, this situation would lend itself to easy delivery in the event a postman came down with gout or had a sprained ankle. With all the population jammed about the post office a dextrous postman, it was suggested, could stand still and flip the letters to their proper address.

The latest population count in Frankfort, according to a recent official census, is 2,142 but the post office at Washington contends that most of this is rural population and is getting its mail delivered by rural carriers. Those persons living within a half mile radius of the post office cannot get rural mail delivery, the Frankfort village board was informed.

Members of the village board are crying "politics," and no one has stepped forward to dispute the charge. The mayor and trustees plan further correspondence on the subject. At no time, they point out, have they asked rural mail service for persons living within the village, especially those near by the post office. They have been trying to get village home delivery of mail, they state, and intend to keep on trying.

Village Clerk Pfaff, however, has little hope of success.

"I don't think we'll ever get home mail delivery," he said to board members. "They have so many regulations in the post office department and so adept at making new ones when needed that they can always turn down any requests we make."

Everyone appeared to be in agreement that the only way to get any action out of the post office department is to rally enough political clout to get a favorable construction of the rules.

Seniors Lead 3 Other Classes

LEMONT -- The senior class at Lemont Township High School produced 26 students on the honor roll for the second six-week grading period. That total leads all other classes in numbers of students with B's or better.

The junior class showed 16 on the honor roll, and freshmen and sophomores each had 12 on the list.

Students and their grades as provided by the school are: with five A's, Joan Bossert, Judith Ciasto and Audrey Madeja.

With four A's were Janet Reinke, Linda Sniegowski, William Daniels, Anne Galati, and Kathleen Kuntz.

Students with four A's and one B were Margo Anderson, Nancy Spencer, Max Helix and Ellen Mankowski.

Sharon Hundley and Lenore Heatherwick had three A's and two B's.

With three A's and one B were Rene Gendeman, Paula Grose, Barbara Kendzora, Janet Laskowski, Bonnie Martin, Melody Bourland, Terri Splitt, Linda Yates, Patricia Doehman, Cynthia

Laasch, Kenneth Stocker and Michael Zurn.

With two A's and three B's were Barbara Kunkel, Suzanne Stachowski and Mark Kazich.

Listed for two A's and two B's were John Benda, Donna Bumber, David Forkel, Floyd Kujawa, Gregory McCoy, Donald Nelson, Mark Forzley, Audrey Johnson, Gloria Langheld, Susan Rutkowski, Rosemary Sproat, Debra Duras, Christine Hull, Donna McKittrick, Roberta Hoster and Melanie Langheld.

Having two A's and one B was Mary Kay Schuda, and Debbie Winters had one A and four B's.

Credited with one A and three B's were Frances Klappa, Vera Krohn, Patricia Schubert, Diane Sopko, Jeanne Ahrens, Karen Combs, Dorothy Slachetka, Robert Dorris, Sandra Korelc, Nancy Olson and Albon Ramza.

With four B's were Mark Sniegowski, Gary Unnerstall and Roger Weber. Anita Kasmar had three B's.

Arquilla Studies Frankfort As Site

FRANKFORT -- The Arquilla company, a construction firm that operates lumber yards, concrete mix plants and has entered the shopping center field, eyeing Frankfort as one of three sites for expansion.

The firm is being wooed by three railroads, the Santa Fe, which has an industrial park in the Joliet area; the Norfolk & Western, which serves Orland Park, and the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern which operates through Frankfort.

Arquilla is said to have options on land owned by Herman Gee in the vicinity of 153rd and 108th Av., and last week members of the Frankfort village board met with its representatives to discuss a site in that village.

Trustee Robert Dean, in reporting on the conference to the board at its regular meeting, said that according to figures quoted at the meeting, Frankfort could be expected to add approximately $100,000 to its revenues through sales and real estate taxes.

In addition to the lumber yards and concrete mix plant, and shopping center, Dean said, Arquilla also wants to operate an asphalt plant, which brought creases to the brows of board members.

Board members plan to visit localities where asphalt plants are in operation to ascertain if they are smelly and dirty as some claim and if the operation is noisy.

It is said that Arquilla is prepared to spend millions of dollars on a new location.

Holiday For Dist. 91

LOCKPORT -- Roy W. Sprague, superintendent of District 91 schools, has announced that Dec. 23, will be the final day of school until after the Christmas vacation. School will resume Jan. 5, 1970.

The bus schedule for Dec. 23, will begin the pickup 15 minutes early. School will begin at 8:30 a.m. and will be dismissed at 2 p.m. at Milne Grove and at 2:15 p.m. at Kelvin Grove. A shortened noon-hour would suggest that children bring lunches.

Parents are also reminded that emergency school closing, due to inclement weather or other reasons, will be announced on radio stations WJOL and WJRC.

Despite illness among staff members, the attendance figures of students for the first three months are about normal.

A science exhibit will be on display at the January meeting of the PTA as a project of the upper-graders.

Architects plans for safety work at Kelvin Grove School was approved and bids will be sought prior to the January board meeting. This will be the second phase of a life-health safety program. Previous work included the heating and boiler room areas. The present work will include the gym area.

The Title II library program is almost completed with the $1,500 grant being shared by St. Joseph and St. Dennis Schools as will be the Title I summer school program grant. This program must be completed and submitted in the near future.

Teaching Method Is Presented

LOCKPORT -- A special program conducted by the 5th grade classes at Walsh School, was presented to the District 92 Board of Education at their December meeting. The program, which centered on the team teaching program at Walsh, was under the direction of Mr. McPhee, Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Kenney. The methodology and techniques as presented to the board were well accepted.

Sessions such as these are designed to keep the board well informed as to the programs provided for the children of the district. Curriculum periods are reserved during each board meeting and continue to be an important part of the District 92 board meeting agenda.

Albania is the only East European country the Communist will not allow American tourists to visit.

Match Gives Speakers Test

LEMONT -- Debate and individual events teams of debaters from Lemont Township High School recently traveled to Jacksonville for the MacMurray Speech Festival. They scored high honors several times in the difficult tournament that covered two days.

The debate team was happy with the results from their part of the tournament. On the novice level Ron Fick and Mike Ciasto defeated Springfield and Macomb. Chris Hull and Anita Kasimar defeated Thornton and Peoria-Manual.

On the varsity level, Joan Bossert and Judy Ciasto defeated Ridgewood, Watseka, and Springfield. They lost by 2 points in the fourth round, just missing fourth place in the tournament. This brings their season record to 16 wins and 2 losses. Margo Anderson and Anne Galati defeated Carbondale and New Trier West.

The individual events team did very well in their rounds. Joan Bossert won a first place trophy in extemporaneous speaking after placing number one in both her rounds. Donna Bumber, in verse, was given a superior rating in her first round. Sandy Korelc, in persuasive speaking, and Marilyn Herrs in prose, also received superior ratings. Others who participated were Betty Barry, Tracy Egermaier, Anne Galati and Cathy Erickson.

Lockport Man Is Nominated

LOCKPORT -- George Anderson, Lockport, has been nominated for director of the Will County Business Farm Management. Voting for the position of the newly named organization will be by mail, according to Francis Johnston, Wilmington, Will County Director. The nominations were made at a recent meeting of the organization.

WITH EVERY GOOD WISH FOR A WONDERFUL

CHRISTMAS

As shepherds watched in wonder and awe . . .
while Wise Men followed a sacred Star . . .
there in a Manger an Infant lay, born to bring messages of comfort and joy, of "Peace on Earth, Good Will toward Men." In this gladsome season, when we celebrate anew the marvels of the first Christmas,
we reflect reverently upon the meaning and Miracle of Bethlehem. With our friends and neighbors, we share the quiet contentment and high happiness of this holy Day, and we gratefully take the opportunity to put aside the routine of everyday business and to send, to one and all, our warmest holiday wishes.
Merry Christmas!

our deep appreciation and thanks to our patrons
for their loyal support and friendly good will.*
